

Sachal Exhibit Extended

The Pelican Art Gallery & Custom Framing Studio has announced a four-week extension of its current exhibit featuring Russian born artist Sachal. "Sachal is such a treasure for Petaluma! The response to his art from the public has been fantastic and awe-inspiring. We felt the need to give more people the opportunity to see a larger body of his work. Our new gallery with the 16-foot ceilings and open design is perfect for fine art of this caliber," said Linda Postenrieder, co-owner of Pelican Art.

Sachal paintings have been exhibited in London, Paris, Madrid, Malaga and New York. His work is passionate, playful and demonstrates the brush strokes of a master painter. Sachal now lives in Petaluma.

Schulz Museum Features "Borrowed" Peanuts

Lucy's psychiatric booth, Charlie Brown and the kite-eating tree, Linus' security blanket, Snoopy as the Red Baron, and other Peanuts themes have become a sort of visual shorthand in which an entire story can be summed up with just one image. Through the years the media has "borrowed" Peanuts characters, themes, or situations to get a laugh or make a point. Peanuts' lasting cultural influence is evidenced by the fact that -- seven years after his death -- Schulz's characters continue to be featured in editorial cartoons that comment on our current culture and politics.

In "Peanuts Lives: A Tribute", The Charles M. Schulz Museum will display the art of editorial and comic strip cartoonists who have used references to Peanuts in their work. The long-term impact of Schulz's life work is revealed through the images and words of his fellow cartoonists as they pay homage to him through their own art. The exhibition will include two installations.

The first installation -- running Saturday, March 3, through Monday, August 13 -- will include the art of more than 70 cartoonists. Some of the featured comic strip artists are Jim Davis (Garfield), Bil Keane (Family Circus), Greg Evans (Luann), Dan Piraro (Bizarro), Patrick McDonald (Mutts), Russell Myers

Notable editorial cartoonists in the exhibition include Tom Meyer (San Francisco Chronicle) and Rob Rogers (Pittsburg Post-Gazette), as well as Pulitzer-Prize-winning cartoonists Bill Mauldin (Chicago Sun-Times), Mike Luckovich (Atlanta Journal-Constitution), and Steve Benson (Arizona Republic).

The second installation of "Peanuts Lives" -- Friday, August 17, through Monday, January 28, 2008 -- will include additional comic strips as well as a video collage of Peanuts parodies found in television, film, and advertising.

The Charles M. Schulz Museum is located at 2301 Hardies Lane in Santa Rosa. It's open weekdays except Tuesdays from 11 AM to 5 PM -- and Saturdays and Sundays from 10 AM to 5 PM. Admission is free for museum members and children 3 and under. Children 4 through 18, college students with ID, and seniors 62 and over pay $5. All others pay $8 for admission.
